3. Current Workflow

The following depicts the end-to-end patient journey at Apollo Clinic as observed from publicly available information and standard outpatient clinic practices.

4. Detailed Observations

Appointments

No formal online or telephonic booking system. Walk-ins only. This causes overcrowding during peak hours and long waiting times.

Patient Records

All records maintained in paper registers and physical folders. Duplicate entries exist for returning patients. No search functionality.

Prescriptions

Doctors write prescriptions by hand. No digital copy is retained. Illegible handwriting leads to pharmacy dispensing errors.

Billing

Bills are calculated manually per visit. No consolidated billing history per patient. Cash is the primary payment mode; no digital receipts.

Lab Reports

Reports are printed and handed to patients. No digital archive. If lost by patient, re-testing may be required.

Reporting & Analytics

No dashboard or summary reports. Monthly revenue is compiled manually at month-end by the accountant.

Communication

Follow-up reminders sent via personal WhatsApp — unreliable and unprofessional.

Staff Coordination

No shared calendar. Doctors' schedules are managed via word-of-mouth. Leaves/substitutions not formally tracked.
